

NUTRITION & DIETETICS AT LBCC

Nutrition and Dietetics is one of our nation's fastest growing industries. Non-commercial food service facilities like yours in hospitals, clinics, schools, senior living centers, wellness programs, community and public health centers, day care and mental health facilities, universities, the military, correction facilities, and the hospital industry are always in need of trained, certified food service professionals.

Long Beach City College industry partners who provide internships for our students and job opportunities for our graduates know that LBCC's Nutrition and Dietetics program prepares students for entry-level jobs in two years or less, earning state-recognized certification by the California Department of Public Health (CDPH)

THE NEXT STEP

Now, your qualified employees who wish to earn national CDM, CFPP certification (Certified Dietary Manager/Certified Food Protection Professional) can attend LBCC to prepare for the CDM Exam – for FREE!

LONG BEACH CITY COLLEGE

Nutrition and Dietetics
Liberal Arts Campus
4901 E. Carson St.
Long Beach, CA 90808

Koby Moridzadeh, M. ED, RDN

Director of Nutrition and Dietetics Program

(562) 938-4176

kmoritzadeh@LBCC.edu

CDM, CFPP CREDENTIALLING EXAM PREPARATION

CONVENIENT - FLEXIBLE - FREE CLASSES FOR INDUSTRY EMPLOYEES!

NUTRITION AND DIETETICS

www.LBCC.edu/nutrition

ABOUT CDM, CFPP CREDENTIALING EXAM PREPARATION AT LBCC

The Nutrition and Dietetics Program at Long Beach City College is an approved exam preparation center by the Association of Nutrition and Foodservice Professionals (ANFP), which administers the national credentialing exam for the Certified Dietary Manager/Certified Food Protection Professional certificate (CDM, CFPP).

The Long Beach City College program is a FREE non-credit eight-week intensive review course to prepare your employees for the CDM, CFPP Exam.

The hybrid course includes both online and classroom sessions, and all classes are conveniently scheduled during the evening, outside normal working hours.

Your qualified employees who earn the CDM, CFPP credential not only expand their career horizons, but also bring prestige to your company as peers with the nation's elite nutrition and foodservice managers in the field.

CDM, CFPP is more than letters after a name. This certification indicates a career path that demonstrates serious commitment to excellence in nutrition and foodservice management, defining the individual as a nationally-recognized, highly-qualified professional.

WHAT CDM, CFPP CERTIFICATION MEANS FOR EMPLOYEES AND EMPLOYER

- Alignment with state and federal requirements
- Valuable career advancement opportunities and increased earning potential for deserving employees who have learned a new skillset leading to certification
- More program opportunities for the company with nationally-certified staff
- Advancement for employees already familiar with your company, reducing the learning curve timeline required for new employees
- Assurance that certified employees are experts at managing dietary operations and ensuring food safety

GET STARTED NOW. IT'S FREE!

Contact LBCC Nutrition and Dietetics for:

- An in-person presentation about LBCC's CDM, CFPP Exam Preparation Program, including
 - ▶ Employee qualifications necessary to apply
 - ▶ Program elements, class schedule and timeline
 - ▶ Required CDM, CFPP Exam Preparation courses, such as NUTR601 and NUTR602
- Program materials to post or distribute to your employees